

TIP 2024 HALOGEN

The Halogen TIP experience was unforgettable. We had the opportunity to interact with professionals in the field and work directly with the youths they mentor, gaining deeper insight into what shapes future leaders.

In the first week, we helped refine leadership tools, such as defining key characteristics of a leader. This gave us a better understanding of Halogen's approach to developing young leaders through a focus on clear values and principles.

In the second week, we assisted in facilitating the National Young Leaders Fellowship (NYLF) Induction 2024. One highlight was running a game called "Pandemonium Prices," which mimicked the chaos of Wall Street, with some of us acting as stockbrokers and others as instigators. It was a fun and unique opportunity to learn how to design leadership games.

We also helped with pre-trip engagement for the ASEAN fellows, prepared logistics, and provided manpower for the Induction.

In conclusion, the TIP experience at Halogen is one we highly recommend to juniors. With a curious mind and eagerness to learn, this experience offers valuable lessons and fosters personal and leadership growth.
